

Unit 4: The Theme

The Annual History Day Theme

Each year National History Day selects a theme. When participating in history day, students will need to choose a topic related to that theme. In fact, one of the important components of a history day project is the student's ability to relate their topic to the theme. The annual theme frames the research for both students and teachers. It is intentionally broad enough that students can select topics from any place (local, national, or world) and any time period in history. Once students choose their topics, they investigate historical context, historical significance, and the topic's relationship to the theme by researching in libraries, archives, and museums; through oral history interviews; and by visiting historical sites. Remember: History Day projects aren't just reports with dates and facts; they are studies of a topic's significance and importance in history.

2025: Rights and Responsibilities in History

This year's theme, Rights and Responsibilities in History invites students to consider the complexities of social, political, economic, and intellectual interaction/engagement. As is always the case with History Day themes, this year's is broad and, as such, requires the student to consider first the terms themselves. It's important to remember that the theme asks students to consider not just "rights" but the "responsibilities" that come with them as well. This theme has a lot to 'unpack' so take some time to work through it with your students. You can download the 2025 Theme book and theme narrative at the NHDGeorgia website. While there check out the 2025 Theme video as well!

Strategies for discussing the theme with your students

1. Begin with definitions - Find out what the terms mean. Start with a dictionary. Discuss.
2. Work through the vocabulary found in the narrative (word mapping, vocabulary triangles, examples) - make certain students are comfortable with the vocabulary in the text itself.
3. When reading the theme narrative - highlight the different questions/points in the text.
4. Annotate the theme narrative, including questions students come up with as they read it.
5. Use the materials found in the Student Guide to support and assist your discussion.
